

The mission of Northeast Historic Film is to collect, preserve, and share moving images of interest to the people of northern New England. We secure the region's moving image heritage through archival storage of significant collections, while engaging the public in finding, using and enjoying audiovisual media.